Dr. P.V. Krishnan Nair, Former Dean, Faculty of Indian Languages, Sree Sankaracharya University of Sanskrit.

The 6th lecture of the Msgr. Raphael Ollattupuram Memorial Lecture Series: Importance of Research in Higher Education was organised by the IQAC on 16th December 2016. The Memorial Lecture was delivered by Dr. P.V. Krishnan Nair, Former Dean, Faculty of Indian Languages, Sree Sankaracharya University of Sanskrit. It was primarily aimed at motivating faculty to engage more in research activities and also in using these experiences in supplementing the academic deliveries. Prof. Krishnan Nair also urged the teaching community to have a sense of values, be relevant to the times. He exhorted them to be worthy followers of Msgr. Ollattupuram who upheld the virtues of self-less dedication and perseverance. He was a man who was not afraid to dream big and to reach for the stars. As members of the noblest profession on earth, teachers should shine forth as role models to their students. An institution is known by its teachers and they have the responsibility to live up to the trust that society has bestowed upon them. Knowledge, the strength of dharma, self-esteem and love-these should be hallmarks of a teacher. These are insights that can be gained through reading the timeless classics of literature and from men of science and philosophy. In an erudite lecture that had the audience spell-bound, Prof. Krishnan Nair offered tantalising glimpses of the limitless treasures of knowledge and perception that every teacher should tap into. The meeting was attended by the members of the teaching and the non-teaching staff. Former members of the faculty and the staff were present on the occasion to pay tribute to the former Principal. The Manager, Fr. Felix Chakkalakal presided over the meeting. Dr. Reena J. Andrews, IQAC Coordinator, offered a memorial tribute to Msgr. Raphael. Principal Dr. V. J.
